

ABOUT MERCY MULTIPLIED

- Many of the young women who apply to the program struggle with an array of life controlling issues such as eating disorders, self-harm, drug and alcohol addictions, depression, physical or sexual abuse, and on occasion unplanned pregnancy.
- Mercy Multiplied is a voluntary program for young women ages 13-28. When accepted to the program they live in one of Mercy's residential homes which are located in California, Louisiana, Missouri, and Tennessee.
- Mercy Multiplied is a faith-based ministry that does not accept state or federal funds, and thus raises all financial support for the program through donations.
- Mercy's program is free-of-charge for all women.
- The Adoption Department is located in the corporate office on the same campus as the Nashville home. Pictured right: Corporate Office (top), Nashville Home (bottom)

PREGNANT RESIDENT INFORMATION

- Mercy Multiplied accepts young women from across the United States. Pregnant residents are always assigned to the Tennessee home, due to licensing and proximity of the Adoptions Department.
- In addition to receiving weekly individual and group counseling, the pregnant resident will complete six weeks of Basic Decision Making classes. These classes include biblical counsel, resources, and practical information on the options for both parenting and adoption. At the end of Basic Decision Making, the expectant mother makes her decision to parent her child or place her baby with an adoptive family.

MERCY'S ADOPTION PROGRAM

- The Adoption Program is just one of the many amazing components of the organization. Since Adoptions is not the sole focus of Mercy, we strongly encourage families to also consider other adoption agencies or attorneys in their area while continuing to work with Mercy.
- Mercy Multiplied is able to place babies for adoption in states that comply with the Interstate Compact on the Placement of Children, providing that the placement meets adoption requirements for both the placing and receiving states. Due to New York adoption laws, Mercy is not currently able to work with New York families.
- Waiting time for a placement varies due to the nature of Mercy's program. Factors that affect the waiting time are:
 - 1) The number of expecting residents currently in the program and
 - 2) A birth mother's involvement in choosing a family for her baby.
- Adoption staff provide a birth mother with profiles created by approved adoptive families.
- Before a family's profile is shown to a birth mother, the family must have completed the application process and been approved by Mercy as an awaiting family.
- Personal relationships are a cornerstone to the mission of Mercy. Our Adoption staff partner with both the birth mother and adoptive family throughout the adoption process.
- Adoption staff are experienced and knowledgeable in domestic infant placements.

- Please ensure that the licensed agency/social worker selected is willing to provide Mercy Multiplied with an original, notarized copy of the completed home study and background checks.

What is Interim Care?

- Interim Care can be better understood as a family serving in the gap of an adoptive placement. Dependent upon the timeframe of completing the termination of the birth parents' parental rights, it is often necessary for a baby to be placed with a Mercy Multiplied approved Interim Care family, until all legal risks are eliminated.
- An Interim Care family completes a similar application process as an adoptive family, but receives additional training and a completed home study by Mercy Multiplied Adoption staff.
- Some may describe an Interim Care family as a Foster Care family, but Mercy's families do not work with the state's foster care system.
- The need for utilizing an Interim Care family is determined by Adoption staff on a case-by-case basis.
