

Keys To Freedom Pact<sup>3</sup>

Every life is unique; therefore, every person's pain and struggle is unique. The issues that I am overcoming and any pain associated with them cannot be compared to those of another.

Full commitment is required to discover the freedom that I desire. Therefore, I will commit to completing each week's study prior to the group meetings. I will also make all group meetings a priority to attend. I will fully participate in group meetings, whether it be verbally and/or mentally and emotionally.

I will be honest with my group, my group leader, my God, and myself. I cannot appropriately apply God's truth that will set me free unless I am honest.

I will not repeat anything I hear about someone else's life.

I will not give any judgment, criticism, or evaluation of another person. Each person should be able to communicate his or her own thoughts and feelings without interruption or judgment.

I will choose to look forward to this time with expectancy and hope for what God desires to do in me during this study.
